Client Reference

Having considered several larger competitors we chose DTS Bromsgrove as our preferred designer for a new range of Medical Devices in 2009. We have been delighted so far with Ken's attention to detail, hard work and ability to deliver working solutions. I am optimistic that we shall be working with DTS Bromsgrove for years to come.

The value of integration...

DTS Bromsgrove Ltd recognises that design is only part of the process, in developing a new product, reverse-engineering an existing product or undertaking speculative product feasibility. No two clients require the same detail, functionality, application usage or work within the same industry. It is essential first to understand the basics and to translate this information into a working brief in order to fulfil the clients needs and the product requirements.

DTS Bromsgrove Ltd go beyond providing just a design solution. A major part of any project is the successful integration, not only with specialist suppliers and manufacturers, but also the clients existing facilities, overseeing the entire project from concept to completion, saving valuable management time, inconvenience and money!
